Investigation Of Grey Cast Iron Water Mains To Develop A

The principal objective of this research project was to develop a methodology that would assist water distribution engineers estimating the optimum time to replace grey cast iron water mains.

to metallurgical investigation to determine the root cause/s for its fracture. 2. Material and methods 2.1 Material The material used in the currently investigated tool was a gray cast iron with 3.0% carbon and 1.8% silicon. The detailed composition is given in Table 1. Table 1. Chemical composition of the investigated component the fracture mechanics of grey cast iron and presents a new model to link the microstructure and tensile properties. 2. EXPERIMENTAL PROCEDURE An experimental procedure has been designed to produce cast samples adequate for thermal analysis in combination with microstructure investigation and tensile tests.
